

No. 669 WAWA SQUADRON

AIR CADET LEAGUE OF CANADA

May, 1974.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

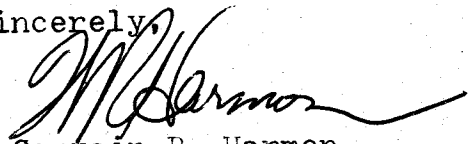

Lieutenant Pugh has made a notable contribution to Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron 669 during the past one and one half years.

Arriving at a time when the Squadron was critically short of instructional staff and a commanding officer, Lieutenant Pugh made the predicament known to the community through a series of articles to the local radio station and newspapers, resulting in the addition of three capable officers to the staff.

During the past year, as instructional officer, Lieutenant Pugh has devised a full training program for sixty cadets, which is proving highly successful. Topics in this program and instructed include citizenship, leadership, effective speaking, amateur radio, electronics, navigation, first aid, gun safety, small engines and maps. With final exams now being written by the cadets this wide ranging program is reaching successful completion for 1973--1974.

It is my opinion that Lieutenant Pugh would be a great asset as instructional officer to any Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron,

Sincerely,

Captain B. Harmon,
Commanding Officer,
Squadron 669.
